

You can add and subtract radicals when the radicands (numbers under the root sign) are the same.
You can multiply radicals together by multiplying the radicands.